BILL FOLEY

CHAIRMAN, CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER AND GOVERNOR

Bill Foley knew that bringing an NHL franchise to Las Vegas was not going to be an easy task, but his persistence paid off on June 22, 2016. While that day will go down in history as the first day a major professional team entered the market, it would not have happened without the hard work from Foley and the people he surrounded himself with.

In the years leading up to the Board of Governor's announcement of the NHL's 31st franchise, Foley, the Vegas Golden Knights Chairman and CEO was busy engaging the fan base and aligning himself with prominent people in the community. In early 2014, he entered an agreement with the Maloof family to pursue an NHL franchise in Las Vegas. At the end of 2014, the NHL granted Foley permission to gauge fan interest in Las Vegas.

On February 15, 2015, Foley and the Maloofs launched the "Vegas Wants Hockey" season ticket drive with the goal of 10,000 season tickets sold. They received more than 5,000 ticket deposits on the first day and about a month later, they reached their goal. In June, the NHL officially announced they would accept applications for expansion. Less than a month later Foley had submitted his application. He would spend the next 11 months meeting with NHL officials and governors on why Las Vegas was a good fit.

After the expansion was announced, Foley went to work putting together his team. He named George McPhee the team's first General Manager on July 13, 2016, and the hockey operations staff started to take form. On October 3, 2016, Kerry Bubolz was named the team's first President and the business side of the team started to develop. The official team name, the Vegas Golden Knights, was announced on November 22, 2016, in front of thousands of fans in Toshiba Plaza in front of T-Mobile Arena.

Foley sat in on many meetings leading up to the Expansion Draft and on June 21, 2017, alongside McPhee, Foley announced picks at the NHL Awards Show in front of more than 10,000 fans at T-Mobile Arena.

In their inaugural season, the Golden Knights finished with a 51-24-7 overall record, won the Pacific Division and advanced to the Stanley Cup Final. Vegas became the first modern-era expansion team from any of the four North American professional sports leagues to start from scratch and finish first in its division.

Foley's NHL franchise got back to hockey's biggest stage in 2023 when defeating the Dallas Stars in the Western Conference Final and advancing to the Stanley Cup Final for the second time in the team's six years. The Golden Knights faced the Florida Panthers and Foley's ultimate dream came to life on June 13, 2023, when the Golden Knights raised the Stanley Cup on the ice of T-Mobile Arena after five games.

In addition to his role in bringing the Golden Knights to Las Vegas, Foley led the charge to bring the American Hockey's League's Henderson Silver Knights to town as well as the Indoor Football League's Vegas Knight Hawks. Since the spring of 2022, both teams play their home games at The Dollar Loan Center in Henderson, Nevada. Internationally, Foley added the Premier League's AFC Bournemouth to his portfolio on December 13, 2022, and FC Lorient of Ligue 1 on January 12, 2023.

Foley is the founder and Chairman of the Board of Directors of Fidelity National Financial Corporation (NYSE: FNF), a publicly traded Fortune 500 Company. A provider of title insurance, specialty insurance and claims management services, FNF was selected in 2004 by Forbes as one of the "26 Best Managed Companies in the U.S." and has repeatedly been named to Fortune's list of America's Most Admired Companies, Forbes' list of America's Best Big Companies and selected for Barron's list of Best Companies for Investors.

After receiving his B.S. degree in engineering from the United States Military Academy at West Point, Foley served in the U.S. Air Force, where he attained the rank of captain. He received an M.B.A. degree from Seattle University and earned his J.D. degree in 1974 from the University of Washington School of Law. From 1974 to 1984, Foley practiced law in Phoenix and focused primarily on corporate and real estate law. Following his legal tenure, Foley became affiliated with FNF. Through strategic acquisitions, Foley led FNF to become one of the largest title insurance companies in the nation, as well as to diversify into information services through the 2003 acquisition of ALLTEL Information Services, now Lender Processing Services (NYSE: LPS).

Foley devotes time to many educational and community organizations. In 1997, he was chosen as Orange County, California's Business Person of the Year, honored with the Marine Corps Scholarship Foundation's Semper Fidelis award and inducted into the Florida Council of Economic Education's First Coast Business Hall of Fame in 2006.

Foley and his wife, Carol, are active philanthropists for many causes, especially those in support of children's education. Foley has served as a trustee on the boards of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and the Cummer Museum of Art & Gardens. He also serves on the board of the Folded Flag Foundation, and their mission is to provide educational scholarships and support grants to the spouses and children of the United States military and government personnel who died as a result of hostile action or in an accident related to U.S. combat operations. Foley's additional professional directorships include Winter Sports, Inc.; Ceridian Corporation; and Fidelity Newport Holdings, LLC.

In addition to his numerous professional and philanthropic commitments, Foley is an accomplished golfer, ranked in 2004 by Golf Digest as one of the top five executive golfers in the world. Foley enjoys his time as a vintner and is the founder and managing partner of Foley Family Wines, headquartered in Sonoma, Calif. Foley also formed and serves as Chairman of Glacier Restaurant Group, LLC, the largest restaurant business headquartered in Montana. He is the developer of Rock Creek Cattle Company, a 40,000-acre working Montana ranch, featuring a high-end golf community with diverse homesteads, a well-appointed lodge for recreation and dining and an exceptional golf course designed by Tom Doak.

GEORGE McPHEE

PRESIDENT OF HOCKEY OPERATIONS, ALTERNATE GOVERNOR

On July 13, 2016, George McPhee became the first-ever President of Hockey Operations and General Manager of the Vegas Golden Knights. On September 1, 2019, McPhee retained the President of Hockey Operations when he promoted Kelly McCrimmon to the team's General Manager.

In his current role, McPhee oversees the team's day-to-day hockey operations including development, with an emphasis on scouting, drafting, and overseeing the coaching staff. He has created a team-first culture in his short time with the franchise and has hired staff around him who share that philosophy.

McPhee earned his name on the Stanley Cup for the first time in his career after the Golden Knights topped the Florida Panthers during the 2023 Stanley Cup Final. Vegas achieved their ultimate goal after topping Florida, 9-3, in Game 5 on June 13 at T-Mobile Arena. It was the second time that Vegas had reached the Cup Final in just six years under McPhee's leadership.

Early on, McPhee and the Golden Knights finished their unprecedented inaugural season with a 51-24-7 record (109 points) and the Pacific Division title, becoming the first modern-era expansion team from any of the four North American professional sports leagues to start from scratch and finish first in its division. For his efforts, McPhee was named the General Manager of the Year during the NHL Awards show on June 20, 2018. It was his first GM Award in his second appearance as a finalist, having finished as a runner-up in 2009-10 with the Washington Capitals.

Prior to the inaugural season, McPhee was tasked with putting together a competitive team in the short-term but also building for long-term success. Contributing to both of those goals was a successful Expansion Draft. The Expansion Draft was not the only place where McPhee and his staff were successful. Through the expansion process, the Golden Knights made agreements with other teams and benefited by having three first-round draft picks in the 2017 NHL Entry Draft and 13 overall picks in the draft. The team ended up making 12 selections, the most of any team in the 2017 draft.

McPhee joined the Golden Knights after serving as a Special Advisor to New York Islanders General Manager Garth Snow in 2015.

Prior to his time with the Islanders, McPhee served as Vice President and General Manager of the Washington Capitals for 17 seasons. Under his guidance, the Capitals grew from a lottery team to a perennial contender with multiple Southeast Division championships and the team captured the Presidents' Trophy in 2009-10.

The Capitals reached the playoffs 10 times during McPhee's tenure in Washington, including six straight seasons from 2007-08 to 2012-13. Under his leadership, the team claimed seven Southeast Division titles and he oversaw the Capitals first trip to the Stanley Cup Final in 1997-98, McPhee's first season with the franchise.

McPhee also saw success through the draft while with Washington as the team held 15 first-round draft picks from 2004-13, the most of any NHL team. His most notable selection was the No. 1 overall pick in 2004, Alex Ovechkin, the league's only active three-time MVP. Prospects flourished under McPhee's direction as the Capitals affiliate of the American Hockey League, the Hershey Bears, were Calder Cup champions in 2006, 2009 and 2010.

Prior to his time in Washington, McPhee spent five seasons as the Vice President and Director of Hockey Operations as well as alternate governor for the Vancouver Canucks, assisting then General Manager Pat Quinn with all hockey-related matters. In his time with the Canucks, the team enjoyed four trips to the playoffs, a division championship, and a trip to the 1994 Stanley Cup Final.

McPhee began his playing career in his hometown of Guelph, Ont., with the Ontario Junior Hockey League's Guelph Platers, leading them to the 1978 Centennial Cup, Canada's Tier II championship. Following his stint with the Platers, McPhee attended Bowling Green State University of the Central Collegiate Hockey Association, where he became one of college hockey's most decorated players. A four-year letterwinner from 1978-82, he was the recipient of the 1982 Hobey Baker Memorial Award, given to the top player in college hockey. His other accolades included a first-team All-CCHA selection in 1982, second-team All-CCHA honors in 1979 and 1981 and his selection as the CCHA's Rookie of the Year in 1979. Earning a degree in business, he became the first player to be named to the CCHA All-Academic Team in three consecutive seasons.

Upon the completion of his college career, McPhee signed as a free agent with the New York Rangers and started his NHL career during the 1982 Stanley Cup playoffs. Following his seven seasons with the Rangers and New Jersey Devils, McPhee earned his law degree from Rutgers University in 1992.

McPhee and his wife, Leah, have two daughters, Grayson and Adelaide, and one son, Graham, who was drafted by the Edmonton Oilers in the fifth round of the 2016 NHL Entry Draft.

KELLY McCRIMMON

GENERAL MANAGER

On September 1, 2019, Kelly McCrimmon took over the General Manager duties for the Vegas Golden Knights. He originally came to Las Vegas as one of George McPhee's first appointments and was instrumental in the development of the front office staff, roster, and culture for the organization during the first three years with the team.

Through five seasons as General Manager of the Golden Knights, McCrimmon's team has skated to an overall record of 218-120-35 during the regular season, as well as an additional 41 wins in the Stanley Cup Playoffs. Vegas was the top team in the Western Conference during the 2022-23 regular season with a record of 51-22-9, their best in team history, and advanced to the Stanley Cup Final for the second time in franchise history.

McCrimmon earned his name on the Stanley Cup for the first time in his career after the Golden Knights defeated the Florida Panthers in the 2023 Stanley Cup Final.

McCrimmon joined the organization after serving as Owner, Governor, General Manager and Head Coach of the Western Hockey League's Brandon Wheat Kings and had been with the organization since 1988-89. McCrimmon served as Head Coach from 2004-11, and 2013-16. He has helped the Wheat Kings to five Memorial Cup appearances, once as a player (1979), three times as General Manager (1995, 1996, 2016) and twice as Head Coach and General Manager (2010, 2016).

Under McCrimmon's guidance, the Wheat Kings captured 10 Eastern Division pennants and six Eastern Conference Championships. He was named WHL Executive of the Year in 1994-95, 2009-10, 2014-15, and received the Canadian Hockey League Executive of the Year award in 2009-10.

Since the 1992-93 campaign, when the Wheat Kings established a CHL record that still stands as the biggest single-season improvement of 62 points, the club has won more games than any other team in the CHL and has made the playoffs 23 of the last 25 seasons.

McCrimmon is the Wheat Kings All-Time winningest coach, having won over 400 games behind Brandon's bench. He purchased one-third ownership of the Wheat Kings from partner Bob Cornell in 1992 and assumed sole ownership in 2000. A member of the WHL's Board of Governors, McCrimmon also served as Chairman of the league's Competition Committee.

In September of 2020, McCrimmon officially sold the Wheat Kings after owning the club for 28 years.

The Plenty, Saskatchewan, native played two seasons in Brandon in the late seventies and was a member of the 1979 WHL Championship club before moving on to the University of Michigan from 1980-84, serving as team captain his senior year.

Bruce Cassidy was named the third head coach of the Golden Knights on June 14, 2022, and has taken Vegas to the Stanley Cup Playoffs in each of his first two seasons with the club. Cassidy owns an overall record of 388-206-70 as a head coach in the NHL, to go with an additional 57 victories in the postseason. Cassidy previously served as head coach of the Boston Bruins, where he was promoted from assistant coach during the 2016-17 NHL season.

In Cassidy's first season with the Golden Knights, he was named to the 2023 NHL All-Star Game after leading Vegas atop the Pacific Division. Vegas went on to earn their best record in franchise history at 51-22-9, the best in the Western Conference.

Cassidy and the Golden Knights won the Pacific Division in the team's final game of the regular season to set up a matchup with the Winnipeg Jets in the first round of the 2023 Stanley Cup Playoffs.

BRUCE CASSIDY

HEAD COACH

After falling in the first game of the opening series, Cassidy's team won four straight games to advance. The Golden Knights then defeated the Edmonton Oilers in six games and found themselves among the NHL's final four clubs for the third time in franchise history. Under Cassidy's leadership, Vegas skated past the Dallas Stars in five games during the Western Conference Final and earned a spot in the 2023 Stanley Cup Final against the Florida Panthers.

On June 13, 2023, Cassidy lifted the Stanley Cup for the first time in his career after his team defeated the Florida Panthers in five games. Game 5 at T-Mobile Arena saw the Golden Knights win by a final score of 9-3 with a hat trick from Mark Stone, just the third ever in a Stanley Cup-clinching victory.

During Cassidy's tenure as the 28th head coach in Boston, the Bruins qualified for the postseason in each of his six seasons behind the bench. Cassidy and the Bruins reached the Stanley Cup Final in 2019, falling short in seven games against the St. Louis Blues. In the following season, Cassidy led Boston to the best record in the NHL (44-14-12), and he won the Jack Adams Award as the top coach in 2019-20.

Before joining Boston as an assistant coach prior to the 2016-17 campaign, Cassidy spent five seasons (2011-16) as head coach of the organization's AHL affiliate, the Providence Bruins. In Providence, he led the team to an overall record of 207-128-45 in 380 games and qualified for the Calder Cup Playoffs four times.

Cassidy made his NHL coaching debut in 2002 with Washington and coached the Capitals for 110 games. Cassidy led the Capitals to a playoff appearance in his first season after compiling a record of 39-29-8 during the 2002-03 regular season. Following his time with the Caps, he went on to spend one season as an assistant coach with the Chicago Blackhawks in 2005-06 before coaching the Kingston Frontenacs of the OHL for parts of two seasons.

A defenseman in his playing career, Cassidy appeared in 36 NHL games, all with the Chicago Blackhawks, and collected 17 points (4 G, 13 A). Cassidy also spent time playing in the AHL, OHL and IHL, as well as internationally in Germany and Italy. He was drafted by Chicago in the first round (18th overall) of the 1983 NHL Entry Draft.

Born May 20, 1965, in Ottawa, Canada, he and his wife, Julie, have a daughter, Shannon, and a son, Cole, who both play youth hockey in Las Vegas.

JOHN STEVENS

ASSISTANT COACH

John Stevens joined the Golden Knights on June 28, 2022, after spending the previous three years as an assistant coach with the Dallas Stars. He also spent stints as a head coach, associate head coach and assistant coach with the Los Angeles Kings and Philadelphia Flyers. He won the Stanley Cup twice with Los Angeles (2012, 2014) and led the AHL's Philadelphia Phantoms to the Calder Cup in 2005.

On June 24, 2010, Stevens signed a three-year contract as assistant head coach of the Los Angeles Kings. During the 2011-12 season, Stevens acted as interim head coach for four games before returning to his assistant position. The Kings ultimately won the franchise's first Stanley Cup at the conclusion of the season. The Kings won the Stanley Cup for a second time in 2014 while Stevens served as assistant coach again. During the tail end of the 2016-17 season, Stevens was named head coach of the Los Angeles Kings where he guided them back the playoffs as the first wild card in the Western Conference. The Kings ended up being swept by the Vegas Golden Knights in the first round.

On October 22, 2006, Stevens was named head coach of the Philadelphia Flyers. During the 2007-08 season, the Flyers won 42 games and amassed 95 points in the regular season under Stevens. THERE MIGHT BE CHANGE IN THE ROSTER, BUT THE GOAL FOR THE GOLDEN KNIGHTS REMAINS THE SAME: TO WIN A STANLEY CUP.

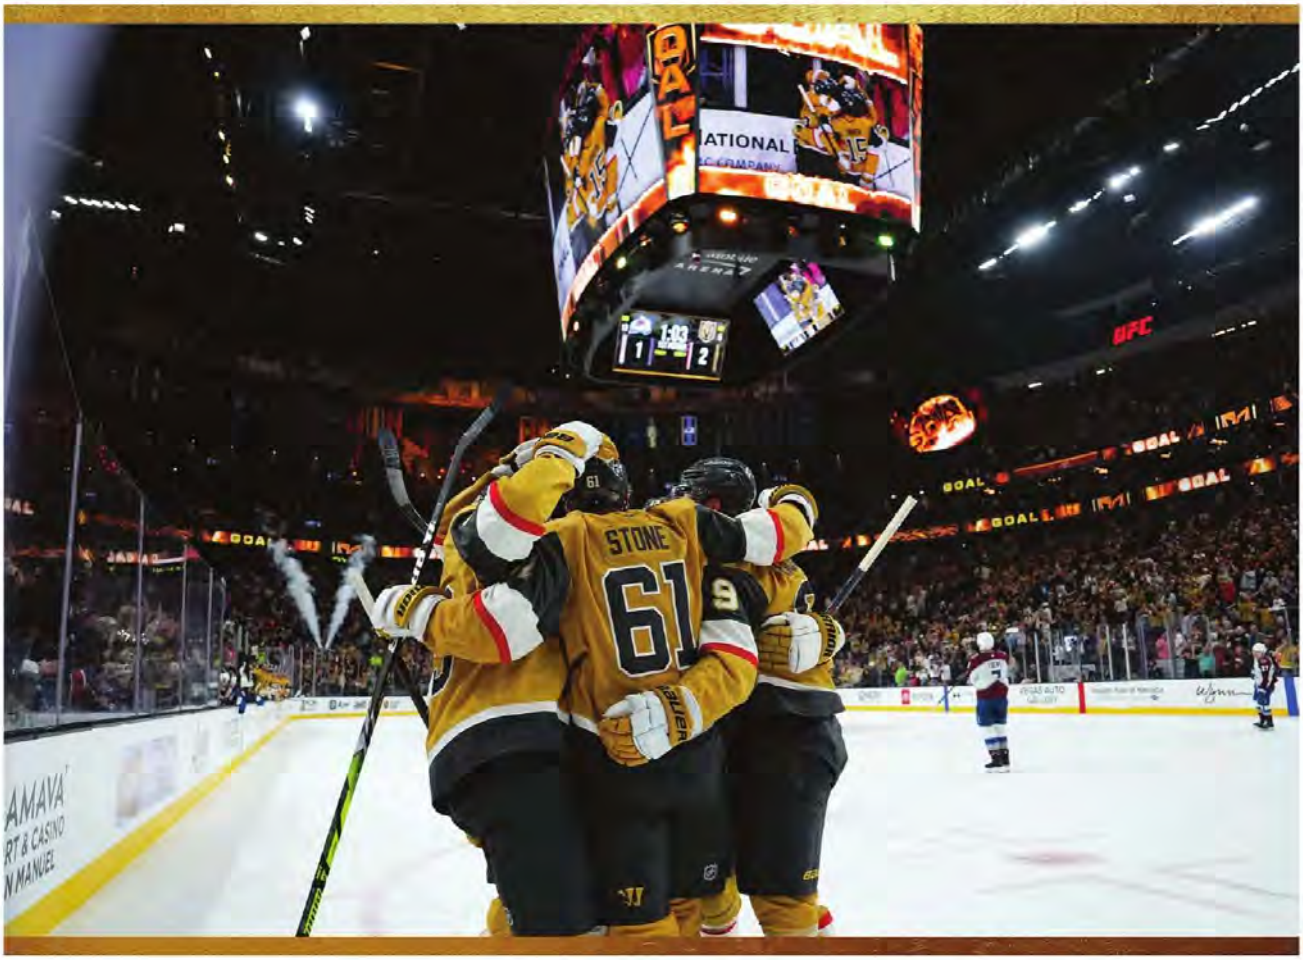
BY GARY LAWLESS

OVERLOOK GOLDEN KNIGHTS AT OWN RISK



Sometimes the tall trees must be felled to make room for saplings. In farming, they slash and burn to revive a field's soil. In pro sports, older more expensive players give way to the younger and cheaper. It's part of life whether in the forest, an acreage, or a sheet of NHL ice.

Front office preparations for inevitable roster churn determine how long a window of contention remains ajar. A general manager must be ready for players from a championship roster to be coveted by 31 other teams. Expect everyone to stick around forever at one's peril.

Golden Knights management didn't need to read any tea leaves to know this offseason would unfold with some players exercising their free agency rights. They asked and got answers. Expensive ones.

It can be said Kelly McCrimmon kept his bat on his shoulder in free agency this summer. Sure. But he'd already hit a grand slam at the trade deadline. Make that a pair of grand slams when he acquired Noah Hanifin and Tomas Hertl.

Combining how teams fared at both the trade deadline and in free agency this summer, it can be argued no team outstripped the Golden Knights in terms of incoming talent.

No question, the additions of goaltender Ilya Samsonov, wingers Alexander Holtz, Victor Olofsson, and Tanner Pearson, as well as the previously mentioned Hertl and Hanifin, make for an impressive haul.

The counterpoint, of course, is who left. Losing Jonathan Marchessault is a blow on the ice as well as in the dressing room and the community. Simply put, the entire package of Marchessault won't be replaced. He chose to leave for his own reasons. He picked Nashville's offer over the one made by the Golden Knights. The same must be said about Chandler Stephenson, Alec Martinez, Will Carrier and Michael Amadio who signed free agent deals with other franchises. All leave Vegas as Stanley Cup champions.

While such transactions come with a hint of sadness, one can also choose to be happy for what transpired rather than grow maudlin over the inevitable ending. These players made history in Vegas. The collective us in the VGK community will always have that to share with them no matter where they have chosen to play. Combine Logan Thompson and Paul Cotter departing in trades and it's a sizeable chunk of roster churn.

Which brings us to the question of the future in Vegas. Elite on the blue line, at center ice, in net and behind the bench. The Golden Knights are an obvious contender. Jack Eichel, William Karlsson, Hertl, and Nicolas Roy make for one of the best cores down the middle of the ice in the NHL.

The Golden Knights group of defensemen is one of the best in the NHL led by Alex Pietrangelo, Hanifin, Shea Theodore, Nicolas Hague, Brayden McNabb, Zach Whitecloud, and Ben Hutton. They are a super seven.

Adin Hill is a Stanley Cup champion goalie, and his new battery mate Samsonov is talented and experienced. Having NHL ready Akira Schmid in the AHL provides insurance.

Vegas was hit hardest on the wing in terms of departures. If a team is going to have to live through some defections – this is the area which results in the least stress. Holtz and Olofsson are young players with scoring pedigree and the blossoming Pavel Dorofeyev could be on the verge of consistent scoring. If one or more of these players pop, the losses on the wings will seem far less significant.

By refusing to overpay this summer in a free agency frenzy, which saw managers commit over $1 billion on July 1, McCrimmon enters the season with cap space and flexibility. If he needs to adjust, he can, and history tells us he will.

The roster is one aspect of how a team will play. Health, culture, and mindset are also critical factors.

Vegas lost in the first round last spring following a historic Stanley Cup championship the previous season. The group is extremely talented and following a longer offseason, should be healthy, humble, and hungry.

This group believes in itself and has gone through a reset. They're at their best when they feel they have some something to prove. Overlooking them would be foolish.

The question in Vegas, which has become a hockey mad market with an enviable record including a Stanley Cup through seven short seasons, is will the Golden Knights be good?

Good? Absolutely. Great? Why not? McCrimmon and his crew have once again put together championship pieces.

Sports franchises sell excitement for various reasons. In Vegas, the buzz is in the winning.

The buzz remains.

2024 FIRST-ROUND PICK TREVOR CONNELLY SPENT HIS OFFSEASON GROWING HIS GAME BOTH ON AND OFF THE ICE

BY GORDON WEIGERS

VEGAS
ATOMIC

Hockey fans are drawn to sudden-death overtime more than any other scenario in the sport. The ecstasy that comes with one's team scoring that final goal creates a feeling that players and spectators alike cement in their hockey memories.

For Trevor Connelly, one of those unforgettable game-winners happened before his eyes on Aug. 24 at Florida Panthers Ice Den as he stood behind the bench for the U14 HPOC (Hockey Players of Color) team as they defeated U14 Brazil, 7-6, in double overtime in the semifinal of the 2024 Amerigol LATAM Cup.

"I never felt so into a hockey game that I wasn't playing," Connelly said. "My heart was racing, and I could feel sweat dripping down my body. I had to catch myself a couple of times and remember I wasn't playing in the game."

Connelly has made it a priority to carve out a week of his summer to be part of the tournament that welcomes young hockey players from all different countries and backgrounds. The 2024 first-round pick of the Vegas Golden Knights went to the tournament for the second year in a row to be a volunteer coach for the HPOC team.

While HPOC fell in the championship game to the Mexico Development Program, Connelly said the experience wasn't about winning or losing. Instead, he focused on the indescribable feeling of connecting with the HPOC players and learning about their hockey journeys.

> "I think it's brought a lot of happiness, good feelings, and confidence. I'm just so honored and happy to be with such a good organization."

At the 2023 tournament, Connelly made a connection with Lincoln Wahba – a player on the U14 HPOC team. After Connelly helped coach Wahba and his teammates, they stayed in contact throughout the 2023-24 season and had monthly Zoom calls to talk about hockey and review film together. When Connelly and Wahba reconnected for the 2024 tournament, Connelly said he could see the passion for hockey continue to blossom for the young player.

"He sent me his game clips and we'd go over them together every month," Connelly said. "We were texting every week and I was trying to give him extra support. We built a great relationship."

The work Connelly has done to help young hockey players from different backgrounds develop their skills and love for the game has helped him contextualize his own hockey journey. He credits the support his parents and coaches have given him as the main reason he's continued to progress toward his goal of playing in the NHL.

After the thrill of being selected with the 19th overall pick by the Golden Knights in June at Sphere Las Vegas, Connelly got his first taste of the NHL at the team's Development Camp. The camp, headquartered at City National Arena in Vegas, included multiple practices and scrimmages on the ice, as well as community visits off the ice. Connelly and his teammates spent a day at Catholic Charities of Southern Nevada preparing and serving meals to more than 600 of Southern Nevada's most vulnerable men, women, and children.

"It's definitely changed a lot of things for me," Connelly said. "I think it's brought a lot of happiness, good feelings, and confidence. I'm just so honored and happy to be with such a good organization."

Connelly is set to begin his freshman season at Providence College this fall as he continues his development path to the NHL. The self-proclaimed "hockey nerd" said he's excited to implement all the details he picked up at Development Camp when he hits the ice with the Friars this season. After posting 78 points (31G, 47A) in 52 games with the Tri-City Storm in the USHL last season, Connelly said he hopes to have an impact at the collegiate level right away.

"I want to be an impact player," Connelly said. "I think the team wants me to help lead the offense and to become a true 200-foot player. I like playing hard defensively, being a penalty-kill guy, and just being a well-rounded player."

GOLDEN KNIGHTS BUILD STRONG RELATIONSHIPS IN MEXICO WITH HISTORIC LOSVGK TRIP.

For an initiative shy of a year old, the Vegas Golden Knights completed the goal of getting LosVGK to Mexico. The four-day trip, consisting of clinics and fan activations in Mexico City, Metepec, and Monterrey, aimed to grow the game and the Vegas Golden Knights brand and get more children excited about hockey.

"We launched LosVGK in October of 2023 and then not even a year later hosted our first international camps, clinics, and Fan Fest. I think it speaks to the momentum that we have as an organization, specifically with the LosVGK brand," said Benjamin Thomas, Director of Latino Marketing and Outreach for the Vegas Golden Knights.

The trip kicked off with a media day in Mexico City, followed by off-ice ball hockey and typical on-ice clinics in Metepec that went through to Monday, September 9. The LosVGK crew, comprised of 15 members of the Golden Knights business staff, traveled to Monterrey on September 10, hosting a ball hockey clinic and an open skate with children from Fundación Dr. Sonrisas. The turnout exceeded all expectations, with around 50 children on the ice at a time.

The trip to Mexico was based around building a VGK Hockey community. The goal was to grow the sport and create connections that last a lifetime.

"There was one woman who we spoke to, both of her kids had come to Las Vegas and done tournaments and clinics over here in Las Vegas. There's an existing Vegas Golden Knights fanbase in Mexico City. Part of the reason for us even going out there was to connect with those fans," said Thomas. "We're building these community relations and alliances. With the Mexican Ice Hockey Federation and ice hockey workshops, we had Diego de la Garma."

Diego de la Garma is the Technical Director for the Mexican Ice Hockey Federation and the head coach of the men's and women's national teams. Diego was a former goaltender in Mexico and started his career as a goalie coach. He always wanted to showcase that hockey existed in Mexico and create lifelong memories that would continue to inspire children in Mexico to play hockey. The LosVGK en México trip was able to assist him in achieving that goal.

"It's amazing because they are already playing hockey, but that motivation they got out of it is amazing because now they're super pumped up to do whatever they need to do to get to the next level and get better. It was huge for Mexican hockey because it opened a new window of opportunities," said de la Garma. "I'm still getting WhatsApp messages saying that was amazing. The kids were still talking about it and telling their parents they wanted another one."

experience hockey for the first time, playing ball hockey before an on-ice skate.

"For a kid that is fighting against cancer, I think that it's even more impressive, more important because the more positive they get, the more energy they're going to have to battle against cancer and hopefully beat cancer. It was just amazing," said de la Garma.

For the staff, they were able to show these children a good time and give them the experience of a lifetime.

"Everyone on our team knew their role, knew that if one kid showed up, we were going to put on a show and make it fun for that one kid. It was cool to see that," said Thomas.

LosVGK was created to build a bigger bond between the Vegas Golden Knights and the Mexican community that surrounds the city.

"All the Mexicans that live in Vegas need to know that there's hockey there, that VGK is a great team and a great organization. VGK has shown before, and they're doing it again, that they do care about the people, and that's something that goes beyond the sports side of it. Once you are successful, share it with everybody. That's how we create a better world," said de la Garma.

With the first trip to Mexico in the books and the next one in mind, the Vegas Golden Knights are hopeful to keep LosVGK growing.

THE ARRIVAL OF MAVERICK BRINGS FURTHER UNITY TO THE GOLDEN KNIGHTS LOCKER ROOM

BY INDIA SHAY

PUPPY LOVE

In many households, you might see signs with different phrases about family values or mottos. In the locker room of the Golden Knights, mantras such as "Always Advance" or "A Knight is the Epitome of the Warrior Class" are on display to embody the beliefs of the Vegas Golden Knights family.

While it's obvious that the members of the Golden Knights share the love of hockey, another shared love is for furry friends. The phrase, "A Dog Makes a House a Home," may best describe the unity that an already strong brotherhood has experienced with the arrival of Maverick.

On January 16, 2024, Vegas announced that in partnership with America's VetDogs, they acquired a nine-week-old, male Yellow Labrador Retriever. The team's newest four-legged friend would spend 16 to 18 months undergoing basic training and socialization with Golden Knights players, staff, and fans.

It was important to the team that their new friend had a name that fit the club's values. Maverick was selected among thousands of names submitted by Golden Knights fans; it appealed to Owner and Chairman Bill Foley, who has strong ties to the military after serving in the Army, and players with its connotations of independence and avoidance of conformity.

"Building a Stanley Cup champion in six years requires a maverick approach," Foley said. "The energy I see in this puppy befits the name 'Maverick' and I'm not surprised the players found it fitting as well."

Since his arrival to Vegas, Maverick has been co-raised by the Golden Knights and America's VetDogs, a national non-profit that provides service dogs free of charge to veterans, active-duty service members, and first responders, to become a service dog for a United States veteran or first responder with disabilities.

PUPPY LOVE

Maverick's outgoing personality made it easy for the young pup to quickly make a first impression in the Vegas locker room. With his high energy, intelligence, and love for treats, the VGK Pup became fast friends with his new teammates. Since then, Maverick's post-practice greetings have turned into a tradition, helping the guys collect their tape and sometimes offering some love nibbles.

> OWNER AND CHAIRMAN BILL FOLEY

Kim Frank, President of the Vegas Golden Knights Foundation and one of the primary caretakers of Maverick, explained that his favorite part of the day is being down in the locker room with his brothers.

"The players all have dogs, they love him," said Frank. "They make sure he's very safe, they don't put their skates near him, they just play with him."

PUPPY LOVE

Maverick's addition to the team has also offered an opportunity for fans to be united by their love of the Golden Knights and dogs. The VGK-9 club was launched along with Maverick's arrival, a new initiative created for fans to sign up to receive exclusive newsletters, content, information on meetups, and discounts on dog-related merchandise at The Arsenal at City National Arena.

In his development, Maverick has had the opportunity to meet fans at home games, practices, and other events. Making several visits to some of the most iconic landmarks on the Las Vegas Strip, the lab has seen so much at his young age. These appearances have exposed Maverick to various environments that will help mold him into a confident and calm service dog in the near future.

While Maverick's presence at the rink is only temporary, his impact on those around him is permanent. As an organization, the walls of the locker room remind the Golden Knights to "Always Advance," and that "A Knight is the Epitome of the Warrior Class," as Maverick represents the hockey family that has been built in Las Vegas.

EXPANDING THE ICE

THE GOLDEN KNIGHTS ARE LOOKING TO BUILD HOCKEY PLAYERS FOR LIFE THROUGH YOUTH HOCKEY.

BY CIARA DOWNEY

426%. That's how much youth hockey participation in Nevada has increased since the arrival of the Golden Knights in 2017. Darren Eliot, Vice President of Hockey Programming and Facility Operations, has directed much of that growth in the five years he has been with the organization.

That investment has already paid off for many of the sport's young players. Four teams based in the Vegas Valley – the 16U VJGK boys, 14U VJGK girls, 14U VJGK boys, and Faith Lutheran High School team – brought home a championship banner over the past two seasons.

"It was very rewarding for the players, their parents, the coaches, just everybody involved," Eliot said of the teams' victories. "To have three championships in the same season was unbelievable, and it was a great story with Gordie Mark, a former NHL player, coaching them. Championships are how people measure [success]."

> "We have 1,200 kids playing in the league. When we got here as a franchise, there were 92 players in that league."
> DARREN ELIOT, VICE PRESIDENT OF HOCKEY PROGRAMMING AND FACILITY OPERATIONS

"I have a little different view of it, though. You enjoy them, you embrace them, you're happy for everybody involved. But we're trying to build hockey players and hockey fans for life. So equally important to me is the growth of our house league. We have 1,200 kids playing in the league. When we got here as a franchise, there were 92 players in that league. I said, 'that's not a league, that's a division.' So, we set out to fix that."

The active involvement of the Knights organization (not merely the presence) is central to that growth. Golden Knights and Silver Knights players attend local ball hockey and learn-to-play clinics in the Vegas area; some travel further north to attend similar events in Reno on the Golden Knights' road trip. HSK players donned Jr. Golden Knights and Faith Lutheran jerseys on Nevada Day and ahead of their respective championships in 2023-24.

The support that these youth players feel from the players they most look up to has been tremendously valuable in both growing and sustaining their participation.

"The success and popularity of the Knights drives everything," Eliot said. "Our job has been to facilitate. The dream if you're a kid is the Vegas Golden Knights. The reality is that the closer you see somebody that's closer to you succeeding, the more kids can relate to them."

Eliot's prioritization of girls' hockey throughout his tenure with the Knights culminated in that 14U girls championship. His success at inspiring these young and developing players is often – and correctly – attributed to his five years of NHL experience, as well as his representation of Team Canada at the 1984 Olympics. But Eliot instead gives credit to those that he has shared leadership with.

"Girl's hockey has always been a priority of mine," he said. "When I was in Atlanta, I had Reagan Carey, who ended up being the head of USA Women's Hockey for a few years. So I had really good female leadership. It was important to me to have female leadership there. When I took over the Little Caesars hockey program in Detroit, it was the same thing. I was able to hire Manon Rheaume, and she ran the girls program and coached, and they were very successful. So the same idea here, we brought in Sheri Hudspeth. We brought in Kara Santoro, who's coaching our 12U girls."

"We're looking ahead at our goals for growth here. The percentage has gone way up, but the numbers are still small when you compare it across the country. One of the things we wanted to do, and the NHL Industry Growth Fund has allowed us to do this, is increase female participation. And the next steps for us is can we have girls teams at each level, each age group competing as teams in the VGK Hockey League. Next session we'll have a girls-only Learn to Play. This is a plan that's been done before, and it starts with female leadership. With any player, if you can see it, you can be it. That's the whole mantra."

That mantra will continue to help create opportunities and successes for youth players in Nevada throughout the 2024-25 season. The NHL and AHL seasons are around the corner – but youth hockey season has already started, with some significant debuts planned for the calendar.

"We're going to host Girls Tier 1 and Tier 2 Nationals in February, it'll be our first time hosting that," said Eliot. "We had the 16U and 18U boys last year. This will be the first time girls hockey will be hosted nationally in Nevada. It would be really special to have one of our teams qualify for that, too."

In addition to building players on the ice, the organization hopes that local youth also embrace their fandom by supporting the Golden Knights and Silver Knights while off the ice.

"Every player gets a couple of tickets to a Silver Knights game throughout the season, and they get ice time at Lee's Family Forum in Henderson," said Eliot. "That's part of why we wanted to do it, to get them that ice time when it's available. The kids and parents can see the arena and fall in love with playing hockey on such an impressive stage."

McCRIMMON SHARES HIS THOUGHTS AHEAD OF THE 2024-25 SEASON

BY GARY LAWLESS

Kelly McCrimmon is one of the most closely observed general managers in the NHL. His teams win, it's his driving priority. In fact, one of his favorite sayings is, "We're in the winning business."

McCrimmon already has one Stanley Cup on his resume and he's after another this season. Half the teams in the NHL will make the playoffs and be able to stake a similar claim. Realistically, there are maybe eight teams with a legitimate opportunity and McCrimmon's Golden Knights are among the elite.

Vegas opens its eighth training camp at the team's Summerlin headquarters, City National Arena. Here are some of McCrimmon's thoughts entering the 2024-25 campaign.

McCrimmon on last year's injuries:

Last year, and I think we talked about it maybe a little bit over the course of the offseason, but I think we got up to 14 surgeries that we had on our team. So, the offseason was valuable. I think the offseason this year was 136 days versus 93 days last summer. When we missed the playoffs in 2021-22, we really felt there was great value in that ability to have a longer offseason to recharge. At that point, we'd played a lot of hockey in previous years. Last year it was a long playoff run and last summer was the shortest offseason that we've had. Hopefully we have more of those to come still, but it feels like training camp is kind of a month later.

McCrimmon on competition for jobs and how it compares to the inaugural season:

I think that comparing to year one would be the extreme. We had 25 players that had never played together, so you're going to have things shake out. I remember for a half-dozen games, William Karlsson was a winger. When you look at it in hindsight, how could that have been? He's one of the best two-way centers in the NHL. Yeah, I think there's part of that. It's an interesting question from this perspective. What that year taught us is that you think you know these things. When we lived it, it's amazing what people do when they get more opportunity than they had previously. That's where I remember at the end of year one, pretty much every player on that team had a career season. Part of that is the fact that there were opportunities. There's going to be some great opportunities in our lineup this year, and someone's going to benefit from that. It's a two-fold process. There must be opportunity, but then who's going to step up and take it? Who's going to step up and take those opportunities?

McCrimmon on where his team can be better:

Well, I sure hope the answer to that question is better health. That's really the big thing for me. You can only talk about these things so much. When you ask the question the way that you ask it, I think everyone knows that guys aren't playing, but I don't know that you ever properly equate it to what the team may look like on the ice and what it could look like. My hope is good health, and we have good health. I like the make-up of our team. There's going to be competition for some new players on our team. There's going to be competition within our team internally for more opportunity. That's all good. For me, I lived a large part of my career in junior hockey where you have players that move on at the end of their 19 or 20-year-old seasons. The players returning the next year are then fighting for more. So, where do I think we're better? Time will tell, but that's my biggest hope going into the season, the health part of it.

> "I'm a big believer in humility and no entitlement. Those things tie into our culture, those things tie into our identity."

> KELLY McCRIMMON

McCrimmon on team identity:

I think our identity will be very similar. I think the foundation that we use for our team and our team play will be very similar. I think that there are going to be some tweaks. Bruce will speak to that more in time that they have some things that they will try to add, or different layers that you have within, maybe even with an individual's game. So, that's something that we could see, but I think that the one thing I've always felt about this franchise is we've evolved into a real good organization and a real good team. I still like to remember where we came from, that was a misfit mentality where we had something to prove. I think that's always served us best when we have that mindset. I know when we missed the playoffs, I talked to you guys about how we came back humbled, hungry, and ready to go. I think that's been a good recipe for us. I'm a big believer in humility and no entitlement. Those things tie into our culture, those things tie into our identity. That's who you want to be. I don't think that changes in terms of who we are and what we stand for. Within that game, within what you know, there'll be some changes, I'm sure.
